Re: Docket ID: FDA-2015-D-3719-0001

Enclosed, please find a joint comment regarding your agency's request for comment on the Draft Guidances Relating to the Regulation of Human Cells, Tissues, or Cellular or Tissue-Based Products.

The undersigned are 2,200 individuals in the US have affirmed their support for the enclosed joint comment.

Sincerely,

Alliance for Natural Health USA

To Whom it May Concern:

We understand that your agency has held public meetings to discuss its recent actions to clamp down on the use of autologous stem cell treatments. This is when a doctor removes adult stem cells from a patient, processes them, and returns the cells to the same patient.

We were shocked to learn that your agency is claiming that even if someone's own stem cells are being used to treat a condition he or she might have, if those cells are not directly related to the part of the body being treated, they constitute a drug and in effect can't be used!

Further, you claim that even when stem cells are intended to treat an ailment or chronic disease that IS directly related to the source of the stem cells, they must also meet your absurdly restrictive definition of "minimally manipulated" to avoid being regulated like drugs.

If your agency goes through with its proposals, exciting discoveries that could alleviate the suffering of millions of patients could either be delayed for years, be lost forever, or cost a fortune -- just when the industry is on the cusp of so many exciting discoveries. Mesenchymal stem cells, which can change into a variety of cell types such as muscle cells, fat cells, and bone cells, show incredible potential to treat a wide variety of chronic illnesses and autoimmune diseases -- a powerful testament to the idea that the body possesses powerful mechanisms and tools with which to heal itself.

A search of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) clinical trials database lists thousands of trials exploring the uses and benefits of adult stem cells, including improving cardiovascular function after a heart attack and treating multiple sclerosis and chronic heart failure. Other types of stem cells derived from adipose (fat) tissue also show great promise. Yet the FDA has already indicated that that it views stem cells derived from adipose tissue as more than minimally manipulated and therefore a drug! Why do your policies fly in the face of the newest and best scientific studies?

As citizens of this country, we will not allow the government to prevent us from being healed by our own bodies! Stop trying to hijack our stem cells.

The Alliance for Natural Health USA
